

Color the 1617 Church!

In 1617, the colonists at Jamestown began building a new church. They needed to replace the 1608 church, which needed constant repairs. The First General Assembly met in the new church in 1619. This picture shows what archaeologists believe the church looked like based on what they have learned from excavations.

Once you have finished coloring the church, have an adult show you the Jamestown Rediscovery team's model by visiting: <https://historijamestowne.org/jr-kids-at-home> #ColorOurCollections #JRKids
